

April 20, 2006

To whom it may concern:

My husband and I had paid $10,014.00 to Invention Submission Corporation in order to market our idea. They have been submitted our invention to some companies, however when we followed up with most of those companies, they have nothing to do with our invention. We were told that our invention will be presented at tradeshow, and now when we contacted ISC Mr Panella told us that we did not purchased a contract for tradeshow. We were under the impression for $10,014.00 that our invention will submitted to manufacturers and presented at tradeshow otherwise we would not have paid that much money to ISC just to send letters out to companies. All we got for our money was a patent worth $500.00; however if our product was licensed ISC wanted 20% of royalties. We feel that ISC just wanted our money and did the least for it. We also feel that their advertisements on TV are very misleading and rip off, therefore we believe that we are entitled to a full refund from ISC (Invent Help).